

PROPOSE REZONING ALONG ROUTES 93 & 125

Economic Development Associates of Boston, consulting firm retained by the Wilmington Planning Board have proposed that Wilmington change its zoning along portions of Route 93 and Route 125.

Under the proposal given to the Planning Board, for consideration, by James Shurtleff former City Manager of Medford and his associate, Richard Alexander, both sides of Route 125 would be rezoned to Industrial Zoning.

Portions of the town along Interstate Highway 93 would also be rezoned according to the proposal, portions in the neighborhood of Concord St.

The proposal is to rezone to Industrial, a portion of land southwest of Concord Street, along the Ipswich River, and to extend the present Industrial Zoning on Concord Street near the B&M tracks towards Woburn Street.

Another portion that was proposed for rezoning lies East of the superhighway, and about 600 feet north of Concord St.

Economic Development Associates, in their proposals, also submitted the idea that Wilmington should further divide its Industrial Zoning into a 'light' and 'heavy' set of classifications.

Revise Sign Laws

Industrial areas would get a preferential treatment, compared to the present zoning law.

The Associates propose that in Industrial areas, such as those proposed for Route 93, signs could be erected which were equal to 25% of the area of any building facing the street.

The proposal was made, Shurtleff explained, so that new industries could be encouraged to locate well back from Route 93, and still have their signs facing the new highway well visible.

5% for Other Districts

In other business zones of Wilmington, the proposed bylaw for signs would restrict the signs to 15% of the face of the building, as it faced its principal thoroughfare.

The new law would make no distinction against General Business zoning. At the present time signs cannot be erected in General Business Zones without approval of the Board of Appeals.

Signs in residential areas would be prohibited, except for a small sign for certain professions.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS FIRST DAY CAMP OPENS AT FORTY ACRES MONDAY

Needed Items

The Campfire Girls Day Camp is to open for the first time, at Camp Forty Acres, in North Wilmington, next Monday.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Choate, of Littleton, and Mrs. William Hanna, of Wing Road, the camp will be open four days a week, for three weeks. Bus transportation is to be provided from certain points, as yet not named, in Wilmington.

About 50 girls have signed up for the Day Camp, with registrations still coming in, according to Mrs. Hanna.

In as much as this is the first year for the Day Camp, the Campfire Girls find that they are in need of certain items, and would appreciate donations from interested citizens.

Needed are archery sets suitable for girls, a badminton set, softball equipment, a volley ball set, a battery record player, and some large leather scraps, for the making of mocassins.

The camp is to be run from 9:30 am to 3:30 pm daily, Monday thru Thursday.

DRACUT TEACHER ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS

Thomas F. Duffy, Jr., of Dracut has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the Fifth Congressional District. Duffy has secured the necessary 500 signatures and has filed his nomination papers with the Sec. of State.

Duffy is an Army veteran with service during the Korean conflict and is prominent in the affairs of the Dracut Legion Post. He was chosen as the principal speaker at the Memorial Day ceremonies in Dracut last year and has made a number of other speeches dealing mainly with proposed reforms in American education and veterans' legislation.

He is a former secretary and still a member of the town Democratic committee and was a delegate to the state pre-primary convention in 1954. He organized and served as first president of the Greater-Lowell Suburban High School Debating League.

Duffy plans to focus his campaign on two principal issues: Federal aid to education—including parochial schools, and an equitable distribution of the agricultural surplus—particularly to the consumer.

Duffy holds a bachelor and master's degree from Boston University and has done additional study at St. Anselm's college in Manchester, N. H., and St. Mary's University in Baltimore, Md. He has taught in the public schools of Bedford, N. H., a private school in Maine, and in the Armed Forces school in Frankfurt, Germany. He presently teaches at Dracut High.

WHA SLASHES $200,000 URBAN RENEWAL COSTS

$217,969 Possible

The Wilmington Housing Authority, Tuesday night, cut the projected costs of Wilmington's urban renewal project by a sum of money in excess of $200,000.

No formal vote was taken by the authority, in view of the absence of Chairman William Agreeable Smith. Smith is undergoing post-operative care in the St. John's Hospital, in Lowell, and is expected to attend the regular session of the authority, next week.

One figure used by the WHA members Tuesday night was $217,969, but this was possibly optimistic.

'James the Ripper'

The cost-cutting project of the WHA was apparently started by member James P. Donahue, of Cypress Street, who, during the course of Tuesday's meeting was dubbed 'James the Ripper' by his fellow member Flora Kasabuski.

Donahue started over a week ago, to investigate costs when he found a seeming error, in one item submitted by a New

THE LAST OF THE ENMON'S HOME

The home of the late Paul D. and Miss Jane Emmons, of Salem Street, was burned, Tuesday morning, by the Fire Department, at the request of the executor of the estate, in order to remove the ruins of the home in which the two met their death last January.

It was originally built about 1890, by the late Judge Emmons, of East Boston, as a coachman's house, and as a part of the estate that he had, in Wilmington, at that time.

CHEAP BABY SITTERS

Once upon a time it was the Wilmington Theatre. Since then it has been principally the TV that has been used by people as a Cheap Baby Sitter.

But now we have something new - the Silver Lake Beach.

Some parents figure that the lifeguard has nothing else to do, so they send the kids down there, and hope that they come back alive. The regulations say that children must be accompanied by an adult or child of mature age, but who pays attention to regulations anyway?

THE HOSPITAL FUND MONEY

About 18 months ago, when the Termites had their Taxpayers Association, ostensibly for the purpose of promoting good government in Wilmington, but actually to do a hatchet job on the Town Manager plan, they had another organization known as the Northern Middlesex Hospital, or something like that.

It was the "Do Good" part of their plan, something to cover up their other activities. They collected some money, $11, or $11,000, or some such sum, and they pledged that if the money was not used to build a hospital it would be given back to the donors, if we remember their promises correctly.

Today there is only one Termite left in business, the honorable James L. McLaughlin, of Shawsheen Avenue, he who pulled the fast trick in the Democratic Town Committee to attempt to keep control of the committee. He was elected chairman, as a result of his fast shuffle, but he has lost control of the committee.

We suggest that Mr. McLaughlin, as the sole surviving Termite interested in disrupting good government should give an accounting of the money collected for the hospital fund.

If he doesn't care to make a public statement, he can make one in an executive meeting of his own part of the Democratic Committee, and the boys will then spread the word next morning, down in the lunch cart.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT TAX

Massachusetts has always been in the forefront, in social legislation, and the Massachusetts citizen who finds himself unemployed finds himself to be in a far better state of affairs than does his fellow-unemployed in many more states.

The benefits were raised again, last year, and an unemployed man now receives $40 a week, plus $6 a week for each child, a payment that can continue weekly for a whole year, and in some cases more - if he doesn't go looking for work.

If he should receive $10 in pay, in any week his unemployment benefits will be cut accordingly. This seems fair, on first glance, but we know workers who would rather have a different type of benefit.

These people would rather receive less in unemployment benefits, and have the right to go out and take a job - a part time job that could lead to a full time job. They would feel more responsible - they would feel as though they were trying.

But, instead, the latest proposal is to increase the unemployment benefits, and not the incentive to work. There is a bill in the legislature (H1361) which would do this very thing.

SUSIE'S

SONNETS

Copyright 1960 by Sylvia Neilson

TRADITION

The Fourth has passed;

We had our kicks.

And many crossed

The River Styx.

The bad part of the bill (there is generally a bad part) is that the Massachusetts employers would find themselves still more heavily taxed. The increase in taxes, in some instances, could lead to the dissolving of the business, because the company involved could not get the additional revenue. Such things can happen, and we fear might, if H1361 becomes a law.

Let us cite the figures on an actual case, a manufacturing plant that is worth perhaps a million dollars, and employs about 250 men. It is located here, in Massachusetts.

In 1958 this plant paid $4,407 in unemployment taxes. In 1959 the unemployment benefits were increased, and the plant paid $6,169.

If H1361 becomes a law, this plant will pay about $19,000 in 1960.

And to raise that money, we are told, it must sell an additional $238,000 of its products.

Perhaps you think that's easy. Maybe it is - but this plant is facing competition from states that are not so liberal. The additional burden could prove to be like the Mariner's Albatross, imposed, not by itself, but by a kindly, well meaning legislature.

Sometimes a Good Thing is Too Good, and H1361 promises to be one of these.

NOW THAT REDISTRICTING IS A FACT

Now that the State Senatorial Redistricting of Massachusetts is a fact we are beginning to wonder if Mayor John F. Gilgun of Woburn is having any additional political aspirations.

Atty William C. Madden, of Lexington, is our State Senator, but Mr. Madden has announced that he intends to try for Congress - the seat of Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers.

Mr. Madden was elected State Senator by virtue of a heavy Democratic vote in Lowell - four wards that are no longer in our district.

Woburn is now the kingpin of the district - and Woburn is heavily Democratic.

That's why we wonder what His Honor, the Mayor of Woburn is planning.

TOWN NOTES

The Drought is Broken

The threatened drought in Wilmington was broken Friday afternoon, when a thunderstorm worthy of recording deluged the town with .62 inches of rain in the first ten minutes.

Only the day before we had had a friend tell us of a thunderstorm in Reading, with water pouring down the gutters and photographers taking pics of happy kids, wading in the water. Our friend told us that Wilmington couldn't get that kind of rain - and he was only wrong by 24 hours.

Lightning struck a pole on Woburn Street, near the Gouvea home, and upper Woburn and Andover Street homes were with out electrical service for a couple of hours, while repairmen worked in the rain.

There was a total of 1.31 inches of rain in that thunder-shower, and .31 in the one on Sunday.

Chimes

St. Dorothy's new chimes are soon to be emulated, we understand, by St. Thomas church.

The chimes can be heard for several miles, our friends tell us, when the wind is right, and when the new St. Thomas church gets the same kind nearly everyone in Wilmington should hear one or the other of the two sets.

Didn't Make It

Last April 19th the Republicans of Wilmington ran a Patriots Day Dance, and among the guests we were surprised to see Robert Capa, of Life Magazine. We took a picture of him taking a picture of Mrs. Wavie Drew. He told us that he was preparing a story entitled 'Politics, USA'.

Last Friday Life Magazine had the story, and we searched it through. To our disappointment, (and we were not alone) not one of the pictures taken at the Patriot's Day Dance was used.

He Almost Swore Off

Tobey White, of Pinewood Road (off Woburn Street) Wilmington's most ardent fisherman, almost swore off his favorite sport, last Sunday.

Tobey went fishing off Hampton Beach, and after having had his line in the water for almost three hours without a single 'customer' he knocked off. It was the first time we have ever heard of Tobey being disgusted enough to do that.

We'll bet he goes back next Sunday, though.

Frank Leavitt

We note that Frank Leavitt of Hathaway Road has sold his home, and is preparing to move.

We can't let him leave without commenting on his work as a member of the Wilmington Housing Authority, at the time that the Old Age Housing project was a burning issue.

Frank was the man who visited the home of about 90 people who signed a petition against the project, trying to find out why they signed. His work had a lot to do with the final vote of the town.

Attractive

We cant help but note, after dark, the attractiveness of an exhibit in the window of the Silver Lake Pharmacy.

Louis Hailson, the pharmacist, has in his window an electric clock and other exhibits, grouped together.

From near by it doesn't really strike the eye, but from a distance of 100 feet it is really eye compelling and attractive.

Swimming Pool

The Seacraft Company's offer of plastic boats, for $16, last week, was the subject of several comments we heard.

It seems that some of our readers feel that in addition to being a light and portable boat it can also be used as a small swimming pool, of the non-collapsible variety, for that purpose, but we wouldn't be surprised.

The gas karts will compete over the special road course with many of the boys already to run. The fields of stock cars and gas karts has been in creasing weekly as has the fields for the spectators races. It seems that the fans are getting bolder and braver as they enter their cars each week with more getting the bug every time.

Action, speed and thrills are on tap for all the fans at the West Peabody Speedway every Saturday night as the best in auto racing is presented. First event gets under way promptly at 8:15 p.m.

LETTERS

Friday, July 1st

Dear Folks:

After much difficulty, the MacDougalls got away on their summer trailer camping trip to the West.

It is amazing how much better travelling we found the new turnpikes. Two days found us in eastern Iowa.

Accidents, so far, have been for others than ourselves. In Cleveland, we saw an immense trailer markedly overloaded that buckled in the middle lifting it's tractor off the street. Also saw a farm tractor hit by a fast moving car. The farmer ended in an ambulance trip to the hospital and the car went over a twenty foot embankment into a river. The crops are behind for this time of year because of heavy Spring rains.

In central Iowa we were busy ducking areas of tornado warnings. They had a hail storm that we missed by less than an hour that had hail stones from golf ball to baseball size.

This one short storm of fifteen minutes duration caused an estimated one and a half million dollars crop damage as well as tremendous glass destruction.

We are now at Colorado Springs, Colorado. Here we are at tending a rally of the Air-stream Caravan Clubs. About one thousand travel trailers are camping in one big field lined up in a series of increasing circles. This morning we had a seven a.m. breakfast in a roped off section of a down-town street. Baled hay was used as supports for the 200 foot long tables.

A grand reunion was had with twenty Caravaners that we went to Mexico with last Summer. They came from the four corners of our big country. A happy bunch of hardened travelers.

If weather is good, tomorrow should find us on the top of Pike's Peak. There is much interest about town in the July 4th auto hill climb of Pike's Peak. The trial runs have already resulted in several accidents.

Must close this note now and go to Rotary Club meeting, otherwise I will lose a good friend, John Nitchie.

By for now,

To the Editor

In view of general rising costs, it was not surprising to learn of our coming water rate increase.

However, it was surprising to observe that it took two Water Dept. employees and a truck most of a day to paint one hydrant.

Are we to assume the Water Dept. as a whole works on this same scale?
